- Paul Swinwood, CEO of the Information and Communications Technology Council (ICTC), will explain why it is critical that the youth of Canada consider ICT as a career. ICTC is a not-for-profit sector council dedicated to creating a diverse, prepared, and highly educated Canadian ICTC industry and workforce. ICTC is a catalyst for change, pushing for innovation that will provide standards, labour market intelligence, career pathways, and immigration initiatives for the Canadian ICT industry, educators, and governments. Based on extensive market research, this presentation is a must.
